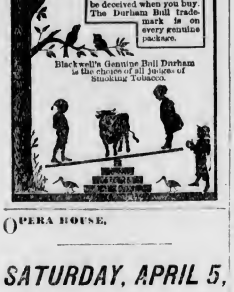
"Will the coming man smoke?" was settled by Prof. Fisk in his charming pamphlet. He says, moreover, that the rational way to use tobacco is through the pipe. All agree that only the best tobacco should be used. Which is the best? That to which Nature has contributed the most exquisite flavors. Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco fills the bill completely. Nearly two thirds of all the tobacco grown on the Golden Tobacco belt of North Carolina goes into the manufactory of Blackwell, of Durham. They buy the pick of this entire section. Hence Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is the best of that tobacco. Don't be deceived by imitations. When you buy The Durham Bull trademark is on every genuine package.



Blackwell's Genuine Bull Durham is the choicest of all brands of Smoking Tobacco.

THE TROUBLE IS OVER.

RIOTS PASSED INTO HISTORY.

But the City Still Presents a Warlike Appearance.

"Withdrawal of Several Regiments—Funeral of Captain Desmond and Others of the Victims—Preparing to Rebuild the Court House.

CINCINNATI, April 2.—The situation about Court House square this morning is more reassuring than it has been since last Friday night. There were no crowds about the barricades, the few militiamen there rested carelessly on their arms, and a little shower of rain drove them all to shelter, leaving the barricades deserted. The least disturbance outside the lines, however, caused a rush to arms. A dog fight just beyond the barricade on West Court street, created great excitement, and the soldiery formed in line of battle instanter. The inclosed space about the Court House and Jail was filled with militiamen in groups, manuevering in squads and relieving one another for breakfast and sleep. Stacks of arms were standing about amid the debris of the Court House ruins, while the Gatling gun was taken out of the wet.

Everybody expressed a confidence that the present trouble is over, and the Fourteenth Regiment and several other companies will leave for home to-day. The Jail, being the head quarters and the lodging and the sleeping place of a large number of troops, is continually thronged by line coats, and the one narrow passage way leading into it is at times almost impassable.

A company of the First Regiment, led by Colonel Hunt and First Regiment Band, marched out this morning to attend the funeral of Captain Desmond.

A force of work-house employes have been put to work saving what they can of the charred fragments from the County Clerk's office. Several volumes were found which were partially legible.

At 8:30 A. M. fire broke out under the stairway of the Treasurer's Office. Fire-engine No. 1 was called, and, after considerable work in tearing away the iron work, the fire was extinguished.

COMMITTEE OF ONE HUNDRED.

The Advisory Committee of 100 appointed by the Mayor assembled at the Council Chamber at 10 A. M. to-day, and was called to order by Mayor Stephens, Comptroller Eshelby acting as temporary chairman.

The Mayor informed the Committee that he desired them to organize permanently, whereupon Mr. Ingalls moved that the Hon W. S. Groesbeck be elected permanent chairman of the Committee. The motion was seconded by General Hickenlooper, and unanimously adopted.

It was moved that Julius Dexter be elected permanent Secretary, which motion was adopted.

Thos G. Smith then moved that the Committee adjourn, subject to the call of the chairman. Adopted.

THE MORTALITY.

Up to the present time twenty-five burial permits have been issued for men killed during the riot.

Altogether forty-seven were killed, and burial permits for twenty-two yet remain to be taken out. Some are still on ice, three of whom are at Habig's. About half a dozen will be buried to-morrow, while a few will be removed out of the city.

Holden and Dickey, two men killed in the riot Saturday night, were buried this morning at their home at Columbus, Ind.

The funeral of Captain Desmond took place at 8:30 this morning. The attendance was very large and the ceremonies impressive. Clergymen officiating made warm eulogies of deceased, who was very popular and one of the promising young lawyers of the city.

WHAT IT COSTS TO FEED THE MILITIA.

"The cost of transporting, feeding and sheltering the militia that are now in the city will be very great," said Quartermaster Ryan. "I don't know whether the county or the State will bear the burden of the expense. I received instructions from Governor Hoadly to furnish the militia with necessary food and shelter, but I suppose the county, in the end, will have to shoulder the costs."

Sunday noon 700 militia were fed. Since then the number has rapidly increased, and now we are feeding 3,000 soldiers daily, in addition to this number. General Ryan provided rations for 900 policemen Saturday night and Sunday morning.

It costs about $1,000 a day to feed the troops. Transporting the troops here on special trains will also be extra expense. But one of the most serious items of the bill of fare up to the present is coffee. Over 1,000 gallons have already been drank, and the cost will be about $1 a gallon, or $1,000.

UNITED STATES TROOPS.

A battalion of the 8-cond United States Artillery from the Newport (Ky.) barracks are guarding the United States Sub-Treasury, at the corner of Fourth and Vine, each night. The officers in command are Colonel Gunther, Captain Woodruff, Lieutenant Dudley, Lieutenant Kilbourne and Surgeon Brown. They were sent over by order of Secretary of War Lincoln on request of Colonel Markbreit, Assistant United States Treasurer.

AT THE CITY BUILDINGS.

The City Park is to-day more warlike than ever. The formidable cannons are covered with tarpaulins, while perched on top are the worn out militiamen. Half the length of the park from Smith to Eighth adjoining the city buildings is a rude table on which provender for the hungry men is spread out. Every once in a while the companies go through a drill to the great satisfaction of an immense crowd of onlookers.

NOT HALF WHAT HE DESERVES.

Berner has been put to work at the most tedious and difficult task in the penitentiary. He is in the moulding room. In the future no one will be allowed to see him.

MONDAY NIGHT AND TUESDAY.

CINCINNATI, April 1.—The riots are now a thing of the past. Law and order are fully restored and things are rapidly resuming their normal condition. The police have resumed their beats, heavy squads of military guard all important points and the city was last night more quiet and orderly then it has been in many months. The lummer and rowdy element is thoroughly cowed and the disreputable characters of the class who have of late insolently been pretending to a semi-respectability and have haunted their degrading occupations before the public, are likewise in a humble and retiring mood, and evidently feel the weight of public opprobrium that is resting upon the entire breed of evildoers.

The appearance of the city, notwithstanding the peace that reigns, still continues warlike. Soldiery are to be seen on every hand, and the park around the City Buildings resembles a military camp. The militia will doubtless be held in readiness for several days to come, until it is quite certain that the viciousness has departed from the mob, though the chances of their services being required are limited.

The latest corrected list of the casualties thus far reported places the killed at forty-seven and the wounded at 140. This is unquestionably below the facts. Many persons were hurt who have not been reported and never will be and it is not too much to say that the total casualty list will reach 200 with over fifty of the cases fatal.

Yesterday was largely spent by the leading citizens, in counting the cost and getting at as exact an idea of the amount of damages possible, as well as in making arrangements for the restoration of the machinery of municipal affairs.

PROSTITUTES AND GAMBLERS.

The gamblers and sporting populace of the city are not a little frightened. They have received warning from the mob to close their houses and get out of the city. Sunday night all the proprietresses of the liquors and other houses of ill repute kept quietly behind locked doors and with turned-down lights. No one was admitted. The frail creatures sat during the entire night shivering from fright and almost afraid to breathe.

The gambling houses were all closed, and the operators were not to be found. In fact, every person with a guilty conscience was much frightened.

MEETING OF THE BAR ASSOCIATION.

Yesterday afternoon there was an informal meeting of the Hamilton County Bar at the office of Ruddy, Johnson & Coston. Hon. W. M. Ramsey was chosen chairman. After some preliminary discussion it was decided to postpone action until this morning at 10 o'clock, when a meeting will be held at the rooms of the Bar Association, on East Fourth street. At that time the members hope to have before them copies of the acts passed by the Illinois Legislature providing for the destroyed records. They will then give them legal consideration, and determine on measures to be recommended to the Ohio Legislature for immediate action.

NOTICE TO THE BAR.

In pursuance of a resolution adopted at a meeting of the members of the Bar, held this morning, all members of the Hamilton County Bar are requested to meet at the rooms of the Bar Association, 20, West Fourth street, at 10 o'clock a. m. of Tuesday, April 1. By order Wm. M. RAMSEY.

CINCINNATI, O., March 31, 1884.

NO CROSSING THE LINES.

Orders were issued by Sheriff Hawkins and Colonel Freeman, who are in command of the troops around the Jail, not to allow any person to enter or leave the lines after dusk. The most extreme measures of protection were taken and no one was allowed within a square of the barricades under penalty of suffering the consequences.

POLICE ORDERS.

Last night Colonel Reilly issued orders to the various squads of police who were patrolling the streets, to visit the saloons and other all night houses, and arrest all suspicious characters; also other parties found upon the streets who could not give a proper account of themselves.

NECESSARY LEGISLATION.

The Hamilton County Judges and officials held a meeting yesterday morning in Mr. Mayer's office, northeast corner of Main and Court streets, to consult as to what should be done. A number of prominent private citizens were present by invitation.

By request, Judge Foraker telegraphed to Chicago for copies of acts passed by the the Illinois Legislature to meet the case of the records destroyed by the Chicago fire.

The proposition was made to hold a term of Criminal Court in the Jail, and at once to dispose of the gang of murderers.

It is thought that the Legislature will have to remain in session fully a month longer than it would had not this calamity come upon us. Not only will special laws to restoration of his records have to be passed, but it is probable an effort will be made to revise the criminal laws so as to make them a terror instead of a protection to evil-doers. There is a general feeling that Senator Pugh's jury law, while good so far as it goes, ought to be amended—or rather that the whole jury system ought to be simplified and purified, and imbued with the spirit of justice and common sense instead of legal chicanery.

A CONGRESSMAN HAS AN ATTACK OF SMARTNESS.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A joint resolution was offered in the House yesterday by Mr. Nichols (Ga.) asking that Senator Sherman's bonville investigating Committee be instructed to investigate the riot at Cincinnati. The resolutions set forth that it is alleged, and currently reported in the public press, that for several days the city of Cincinnati has been terrorized by a riot, composed of vigilance committees and kindred organizations, which have subverted the law of the land and destroyed the public tranquility in repeated efforts to lynch certain persons confined in the Jail charged with crime, resulting in the loss of many lives and much property.

THE RIOTERS LARGELY BOYS.

The older and cooler-headed city reporters, in their testimony that at no time did the mob seem to have definite purpose—save the general one of lynching the prisoners—and that at no time were they formidably armed, was corroborated by the proportionately very few casualties among the representatives of law and order, and some of those few the results of their own fire.

Of the few guns taken from the Veteran Armory there is no evidence of any having been used, and the bullet-holes in surrounding walls, when not those of the crushing rifle-bullets of the militia, or of the Gatling gun, seem to be made from pistols of ever small caliber. In every instance the e was a very large proportion of uncouth boys, such as one sees in upper tier at the representation of the lurid border romance, and finds buying the police papers in such numbers that one is not surprised to hear of the fabulous profits of the proprietors. Leaving the public school for work just after they have learned to read, and before they have had either minds or hearts formed by real education, they become the victims as well as the patrons of the literature of crime. In many cases drawn by curiosity, and in most cases unarmed from the peculiary inability to be what they would call "fixed," these lads showed a nerve creditable to their various nationalities, and American birth, possibly aided by ignorance of their own real danger, saw dead and wounded taken from among them without the least show of a disposition to retreat from the scene of their most thrilling gratified their curious morbid by their habits of reading. There s an effort to have the Kentucky Assembly legislate against the sale of police papers, for there are respectable newsdealers who like to deal in them, but who are unable to discriminate on account of their relations with the news companies which vamate them.

A DEACON IN A DILEMMA.

Verdict for a Young Lady, Whom He Had Kissed Against Her Will.

ROME, N. Y., April 2.—An exciting case was concluded in the Supreme Court here to-day. Anna A. Fitcher, a very comely young lady, aged twenty-three, sued Henry Johnson, widower, aged seventy, for $40,000 damages, for kissing her. Miss Fitcher is a neighbor of Johnson in this city. She alleged that Johnson kissed her on three occasions at least twelve times. Johnson had an invalid wife and Miss Fitcher attended her often in the fall of 1882 and ministered to her wants. The first time Johnson kissed her was while visiting Mrs. Johnson's dishes and had a kettle in her hand. She says she did not drop the kettle, but don't know why she did not, as she was much excited. Next time he saw her home one evening, and kissed her at the gate. The third time was on Christmas, 1882, when he brought her a Christmas present from his wife, and kissed her in her own house. She says she remonstrated with him each time, and threatened to tell her mother that nasty old man had been kissing her again.

Defendant swore he kissed her on two occasions because she looked so pleasant, but thought it no more harm than the kissing of a ten-year-old child. The jury went out at ten o'clock and came in at twelve, reporting that they could not agree. Judge Vann sent them back and they came in this afternoon with a verdict of $5 for plaintiff. Much interest has been manifested in the case. Both parties are respectable. The defendant has been a deacon in the Baptist Church for forty years.

Important Meeting of Bondholders In Boston.

BOSTON, April 2.—Messrs. Lascha and Caten, railroad experts employed by the Bondholders' Committee, have made a careful examination of the Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad system, and, on the basis of their investigations, the committee states that, "It is doubtful from the report on hand if there was ever a month, since the first incorporation of the road from Toledo, that anything over the common expenses was earned. The great fault of the system is its narrow gauge, and, after a careful investigation by competent experts, the Committee is of the unanimous opinion that as it is scarcely possible to hope for success under a receiver while a road is in an unfinished condition, and as we shall soon be forced to foreclose the bond mortgages, all future efforts should be in the direction of a standard gauge from Toledo to St. Louis, which will enable us to exchange business with numerous crossing roads, and to compete on post with others upon a safe basis at our terminal. The estimated cost of such a change is about $5,000,000."

THE DEAD PRINCE.

The Remains Now on the Road to England.

CANNES, April 2.—The remains of the late Duke of Albany (Prince Leopold) were conveyed this afternoon from Villa Nevada to the railroad station, en route to Otherhorng. The funeral cortege was escorted by several companies of military, others lining the streets along the route of the procession. All business was suspended, and many buildings were draped in mourning. Previous to removal of the remains from the room in which he lay a memorial service was enacted. The Prince of Wales is here to accompany the remains to England. He threw himself upon the coffin and kissed the lips of his dead brother repeatedly, giving way to his feelings in suppressed sobs. The scene was extremely affecting, and those who witnessed it were unable to repress their tears. The prince was finally led away, and the casket closed. On the casket lay a large wreath from the Queen, inscribed, "From a devoted and sorrowing mother."

F. WADSWORTH, a banker of Ishpeming, Mich., whose failure some time ago created great indignation in Marquette County, has been arrested on a complaint by the agent of the Cleveland Iron Mining Company, charging him with appropriating to his own use $50,000 and other sums which the company had paid him as taxes while he was acting as City Treasurer. Not a cent of this money has been recovered and the city of Ishpeming is now bankrupt.

ASTOR'S OCEAN PALACE.

A Rival to Jay Gould's Famous Atalanta.

The Gorgeous Astor Yacht That Is Soon to Be Launched at Wilmington—Remarkable Piece of Marine Architecture.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 2.—Scores of men are busily at work on a low black hull in the Harlan and Hollingsworth ship yards. By the middle of April it will be ready to launch, and henceforth will bear the name of the Nourmahal. This is the yacht which Mr. William Astor, of New York, expects will eclipse anything afloat and in which he is ready to invest something like $350,000. The Nourmahal is to be a novelty in one way. It is to be built entirely of steel, and the requirements are that it shall be fully as well equipped for the sea as the best of the ocean steamers. Mr. Astor does not intend to be a fresh water sailor by any means, and he stipulates that his yacht must come up to the rules of the English Lloyds register.

The hull and frames are of steel, the deck beams are of steel, and even the deck itself is to be made of the same material. Steel will be used for the deck houses as high as the windows. The Nourmahal promises a beautiful model. The deck length is 227 feet and a few inches. The breadth of beam is 30 feet and the depth of hold 18.7½ feet. Speed is to be less of an object than safety and comfort. The two engines can be worked to the extent of 1,340 horse power, but only 12 knots an hour is expected from ordinary pressure, which can be increased to 14 if necessary. The yacht is to be bark rigged, and will spread something like 7,000 square feet of canvas to the breeze.

Mr. Astor intends to furnish his floating palace in a manner befitting its cost. As in Mr Bennett's Namouna and Mr. Gould's Atalanta, the cabins will be forward, and the old time quarter deck will be given up to the seamen. The engines are to be placed about midships. Below the deck and just forward of the engines the main saloon will begin, running the full width of the vessel, and is to be lighted by an immense skylight, to be finished in solid, hard wood, and to be furnished with the richest material, including sofas, chairs, and a long extension table for dining purposes. Leading from this saloon is to be a hallway, opening from it on the starboard side is to be the owner's stateroom—a large room luxuriously furnished. Just forward is another stateroom, and opposite, on the port side, three staterooms for guests.

At the end of the hallway is to be a saloon for ladies, extending, like the main saloon, across the vessel. Forward of the cabin will be two rooms for the mates. The furnishing of these rooms is to be in hard wood. One of the maid rooms is to be the lounging room or observation room, or whatever it may be called, in the deck house. This is reached by a companion way from the hall below. The stairs are to be of polished brass, with mahogany railings, and the deck room is to be finished in mahogany, with white pine overhead and fresco work. Art of this deck saloon, with its magnificent appointments, is to be a chart room finished in the same manner. All the officers and seamen are to be quartered aft of the machinery. First comes a galley on the starboard side, with rooms for cooks, stewards, and engineers across the passage on the port side. Aft of these are the rooms of the mates, Captain, and Quartermasters, and at the end of the passage is the ward room.

In the extreme stern of the yacht ten seamen and as many firemen can be quartered. There will be more room in the Nourmahal than in the Atalanta. It is expected that the yacht will do well under canvas. The standing rigging is to be of charcoal galvanized wire, and the running rigging of manilla bolt rope. The tall foremast rigging aft will float a pennant 100 feet above the deck. Electric bells from all the forward cabins and staterooms will summon attendants, and the electric light will be used in every portion of the yacht. It is expected that Mr. Astor can take a trip in his splendid craft, fitted and equipped in every detail, before the hot weather of August sets in. About three months will be required to complete everything after the launch.

The Ohio Legislature.

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—House Committee on Railroad and Telegraphs has reported back a substitute for Thompson's railroad bill. It provides for leasing the whole Miami and Erie Canal to the Miami and Erie Transportation Company for ninety-nine years, at $10,000 per annum, also that no railroad shall ever be built upon any portion of it. Stryker moved to reject the report. An exciting debate followed, interrupted by recess.

A suggestion was made in the House, and will probably be adopted, that the entire Legislature visit Cincinnati to see for themselves the extent of the damage, and what is required to repair it.

The House passed Kohler's bill for the suppression of prize fighting and sparring matches. Cogan's bill regarding the school tax levy, in the absence of the author, was referred to Bruce, with leave to report at any time.

The Senate agreed to the conference report on the general appropriation bill, and it is now law.

A Dastardly Deed.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 2.—Three young men, named respectively Ratchford, Fitzsimon and Maloney, a little after midnight, forced an entrance into the house of Mrs. Taylor, on Pottawattomie street, by breaking down the door, and by force took an octoroon out and ravished her. Two of the brutes were arrested before daylight, and the third was captured early this morning by the police. The young men all belong to well-to-do families, who will attempt to get them out of their trouble, but it will be a difficult matter as there is a large colored element in the city who say such outrages will not be submitted to. The girl is about eighteen years of age. The Police Court will be crowded with colored men when the trial takes place.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

WEDNESDAY EVE., APRIL 2, 1884.

BLAINE is said to be rapidly gaining strength in Illinois.

THE hip pocket lately discovered in Ohio appears to be large enough to hold concealed a cannon.

THE court house and jail at Cincinnati cost $1,000,000. The law library was valued at $200,000, many of the volumes costing $50 each.

THE business failures in the United States for the three months just closed, numbered 3,206, with liabilities amounting to $40,000,000.

THE best evidence in the world that no Kentuckians were in the mob at Cincinnati is the fact that none of the murderers were lynched.

WM. FOURDRAY is the last surviving veteran of 1812 in Fleming County, and although ninety-two years old, is still in good bodily health.

THE Commune of the Paris of America have not burned any more court houses since last week. The revolution of '84 seems to be at an end.

THE miserable law which practically excludes men of intelligence and information from the jury box will now probably receive some attention.

THERE are some people at Cincinnati who are really happy. They are the murderers who are out on bail. Their bonds were destroyed when the courthouse was burned.

SEVERAL persons who went to the residence of Joshua Blanton, in Fleming County, a few days ago for the purpose of ku-kluxing him, left as suddenly as the came, and one of them with buckshot in his hide.

THE house of Representatives has voted against the appointment of a board of Commissioners of State Charities. Such a board would have been of great service in insuring the proper management of the various charitable institutions of the State, and the defeat of the measure is, we think, to be regretted.

No Mob From Kentucky.

Covington Commonwealth.

The accounts of the mob sent out from Cincinnati make frequent mention of the part taken by Kentuckians in the bloody outbreak. In Saturday's account the following appeared:

"It having been reported that a mob was on its way from the Kentucky side, a detachment was sent to the bridge to head them. They arrived just in time to meet the yelling surging masses as it swarmed across the bridge and, to be hooded as the like chief. The gang was heavily armed, many of them having guns, and it sped rapidly to the scene of conflict, giving fresh impetus to the efforts of the assailants."

There is not a word of truth in this. It is a pure invention of the sensational reporter. No mob, armed or unarmed, went from Kentucky to Cincinnati.

This morning there is a repetition of the lie about Kentuckians: "Fully a thousand men from Kentucky took a hand." Of course, individual Kentuckians were drawn to Cincinnati by the scenes there enacted; but there is not the slightest evidence that any considerable number of them took part with the mob. A conclusive point is that in the long list of killed and wounded the name of no Covington man appears. If Covingtonians had taken an active part their names would have appeared in one or the other of the lists.

KERNELS

Picked From Newsy Nuts Found Here, There and Everywhere.

In the Roman Catholic Cemetery of the little hamlet of Ardmore, Penn., there is a handsome shaft of granite surmounted by a Latin cross. Upon it it engraved the name of "Gill." The person referred to is Mr. William Gill, of Philadelphia, who is not dead at all, but in remarkably good health. Five years ago in passing through Ardmore he was so charmed with the place that he determined to be buried there, and in order that there might be no doubt it, he built his monument. The sexton of the church is kept busy telling this story to chance visitors, and the villagers are proud of the romantic incident.

The Chinese have begun to adopt the Western chemical science, and a factory has recently been erected for the manufacture of sulphuric acid on a large scale. Two well-known chemical text books, Malgutt's "Elementary Chemistry" and Fresenius' "Chemical Analysis," have also been translated into the Chinese with the help of a great number of new characters, and adopted into the imperial colleges. Tong Sung, First Minister, and a director of the Tung Wen Hsun, has taken the work under his immediate patronage and written a preface for the first of these books.

An English Judge, having received an intimation that a man he had sentenced to death wished particularly to see him, went to his cell, when the man said: "I stole your watch years ago. You were looking into a print shop in the street." "Yes," said the Judge; "but I always wondered how the thing was done, because I particularly valued the seals which were hanging from the fob, and kept my hand on them." "You did, save for an instant, when I tickled you with a straw behind the ear." He went on to explain that the watch was such a peculiar one, the name being embossed on it, that they had been afraid to sell it, and said, "If you get me ink and paper I can give you a letter which will enable you to recover it." And the Judge did recover it.

The Mississippi Floods.

NEW ORLEANS, April 2.—The river is falling slightly at this point, but is rising in the Atchafalaya and points west. Another crevasse is reported at Devergees, St. Jomes, nine miles above Guldry. The Government steamer, Patrol, is still out in the open cornfield on the Davis plantation, where it was carried by the force of water running through the broken levee. It would be impossible to float her out the way she went in, but soundings have been made from where she is back through the swamps to Lake Salvator, and plenty of water found. Once in Lake Salvator the vessel will have no trouble in running into Bayou La Foche and thence into the Mississippi. The Relief Committee shipped fifteen days rations for 6,289 persons on board the steamer Tensas to the Tenses and Bayou Macon districts. On Wednesday a shipment to the Black River will be made. A great many applications for relief are coming in from the Ouachita and Black River counties.

Cowardly Conduct.

PITTSBURG, April 2.—Miss Frankie Tankersley, daughter of Judge Tankersley, of Washington, D. C., is at the Seventh Avenue Hotel, suffering from a severe attack of hysteria. The young lady had been away visiting, and arrived here yesterday on the limited mail on her way to Washington. A flashily dressed passenger, about forty-five years of age, forced his attentions on her. He became so unbearable that other passengers were compelled to interfere. The young lady, who is of a nervous temperament, became so distressed that she was compelled to retire to her berth. At Beaver, thirty miles from here, the train was stopped and a physician and Judge Tankersley were sent for.

Uncle Rufus Becomes an Oil Speculator.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Rufus Hatch, after trying stocks, grain and the hotel business, has decided to go into oil speculation and has been admitted as a member of the New York Petroleum Exchange. S. M. Mills, Gould's old partner, and H. H. Hon die and several other Wall street men have joined the same exchange. Certificates of membership, which sold on Saturday at $25 advanced to $250.

FATAL FLAMES.

A Young Man Burned to Death at Massillon.

CANTON, O., April 2.—The Reed millinery store at Massillon took fire early this morning.

It was supposed that all the inmates had escaped, but when the fire was extinguished the remains of Owen Reed, aged seventeen, were discovered, and his father's body was found in an unconscious state, severely but not fatally injured.

Silver Coinage.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The Merchants' Exchange of St. Louis has forwarded to the members of Congress resolutions passed at a meeting of the Board of Directors, offering it as their opinion that the public good requires that the coinage of silver dollars should be immediately suspended by act of Congress, for a period of at least two years, and that Congress should prohibit the further issue of bills of a smaller denomination than $5, and thus insure the substitution of silver coins for such bills.

The Soudan.

LONDON, April 2.—Latest advices report that Osman Digna is encamped in the vicinity of Tamanieb, having about 1,000 followers and many Sheiks, and that he is preparing to give battle to tribes friendly to the English.

Yesterday evening the rebels approached within a mile of Suakim and looted cattle. The inhabitants of Suakim are discontented and eager at being left by the British to take care of themselves.

CONDENSED NEWS.

THE Reichstag has adjourned until the 2d of April.

RUDINI, the French caricaturist, is dead of paralysis.

SPECIAL pilotage dues in the Suez Canal have been abolished.

THE reduction of the public debt during the month of March was $4,328,321.

NUMEROUS arrests have been made of persons known or believed to be Anarchists.

BEREA, KY.

The winter term of Berea College closed on the 25th ult., with an evening entertainment, which was well attended and applauded throughout. One of the best exercises was the debate on the question: "Ought There to be, in the United States, a Property Qualification for Suffrage?" Robert A. Marshall, of Cabin Creek, Lewis County, made an especially good speech on the negative. Other particularly good exercises were an oration, "Wonderful Man," by Herman Murphy, of Danville, Ky.; a concert recitation by Misses Etta and Ella Darling, of Michigan, and an oration, "Union and the Ballot Box," by Noble Hill, of Massachusetts.

J. F. BROWNE.

What did Peter and Paul know about Greek? Why, not a word, my brethering. No! Peter and Paul preached in the plain, old English and so'll I."—Christian at Work.

Bill Arp on Home.

It is good for a man or woman to leave home occasionally and be petted and munched up abroad among kindred and friends, and it is good for them to come back again and rest and enjoy the quiet and peace of the family fireside, and bask in the sunshine and smiles of the loved ones at home. I like to go, but I love to return. God bless our homes—and protect them from envy and discontent, and from fire and sword.

For impure blood the best medicine known, Scovill's Sarsaparilla, or Blood and Liver Syrup, may be implicitly relied on when everything else fails. Take it in the spring time especially for the impure secretions of the blood incident to that season of the year; and take it at all times for cancer, scrofula, liver complaints, weakness, boils, tumors, swellings, skin diseases, malaria and the thousand ills that come from impure blood. THE GEORGIA CYCLONE

Interesting Incidents Coming In From the Interior.

The Singular and Terrible Experiences of Many Residents—Mowing a Swath Through a Pine Forest—Curious Stories.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 2.—Many interesting incidents of Tuesday's tornado continue to come in. In Stewart County the three story frame mansion of Mrs. Grace Miller was lifted high in the air, the sills upon which it rested blown away, and the house was dropped almost exactly in its old position where it now stands with its foundation sills gone. At Judge Wilberly's the tornado struck a pine forest and for five miles in a straight line left a clearing thirty feet wide. In Carroll County the storm first struck Lowell, where it blew away the house of Mr. Ellis Smith, in which two families lived. Two persons were killed, a mother and child. The woman's dead body was blown one hundred and fifty yards and one of her arms was twisted off. The child was blown against a tree and mashed to a jelly. The use of cyclone pits has greatly lessened the dangers to life. Thirty persons took refuge in Dr. Knox's pit, and an equal number in that of Mr. Bailey's until two o'clock in the morning. They listened to the roaring of the wind and thunder and at intervals fell upon their knees in prayer. In the short lull following, at about two o'clock, they opened the pit and found a star-lit sky above them and not a trace of the danger which had played such havoc below.

The loss to live stock in Carroll County is not less than $100,000, while the clean sweep of residences, fences, etc., involves a loss which $200,000 cannot replace. The storm struck Echoes settlement, in Milton County, where an old fashioned log rolling and quilting bee was in progress. Hailstones as big as saucers fell with such force as to cut off large limbs of trees. Some of the stones were five inches square. At Williams Green, fifty-seven persons crowded into a small cellar and did not venture out until next day. In Hall County two women and several children were sitting by the fire place. The frame of the building was lifted up and carried away, leaving the family sitting in amazement. A scantling fifteen feet long was driven into the ground to one-third of its length. At the same place the roof of a house was lifted off and set upon the top of a pine tree where it balanced and still stands. In the vicinity of Townville, S. C., seven persons were killed.
